

www.therealm.com.au

The Realm News
20th May, 2008

2008 ASP AUSTRALASIA PRO JUNIOR TOUR

Dan Pryor has been travelling on the 2008 ASP Australasia Junior Tour this year with good success. He is currently rated 44th with 4 events remaining to decide the 2008 champion. This year the tour has taken Dan all over Australia and New Zealand with the last 4 events being no different with Dan will be head to Port Stephens (NSW), Victor Harbour (SA), Manly (NSW), and Bells Beach (VIC). Dan only needs a couple results to move him further up the ratings.

The ASP Australasia Pro Junior Tour caters for the development of elite surfing for both males and females throughout the Australasian region.

The tour is for surfers under the age of 21 and is the breeding ground for the ASP World Qualifying Series and the elite ASP Championship Tour.

Aspiring surfers from all over Australia, New Zealand and Indonesia are expected to take part in all events, with the possibility that the prize money and local talent may also attract surfers from Japan, South America, North America, South Africa and Europe.